FIGHTING BLIGHT IN WAYNESBORO

WHAT IS BLIGHT?

Blight is a condition that poses a threat to the health, safety, and general welfare of a neighborhood. It can be easy to spot in things like broken doors and windows, a porch that is falling down, high weeds, and trash and litter. In some cases it may be harder to see, with a building that has interior water damage, has no utilities, or has been vandalized. Reasons for blight may vary, but one thing is certain, blight is a serious problem.

WHAT CAN WE DO?

Working together, we can make a difference. Property owners, neighbors, police officers, EMT's, the code officer, the fire department, and animal officers can identify problems and attack blight before it spreads. Tell your friends and neighbors about the "Fight on Blight." If you see a problem that needs attention, call or email the property address to our task force.
